The bright world, the light world,
where joy and beauty reign;
Where Love's hand smooths away the sulfur touch of grief and pain;
Where slight and tear and sorrow
Melt into the glad Tomorrow,
And the sunshine of His presence in the trusting heart ne'er wanes.

Oh, sweet world, complete world, oh,
world of love and song,
Wherein the joy of living is to strive to right the wrong;
The days are growing brighter,
And the heavy burdens lighter,
By the beauty of Love's presence as we're journeying along.

There is said to be only one cow to every twenty persons in California, but then, there are plenty of pumps and windmills to help the poor milkman out.

SEEN HER YET?
The ice-cream girl has flown her kite,
And we now have in her place,
With an appetite
The girl with the oyster face!

A new set of football rules has been brought out for 1903, but the contestants will still continue to pull out ears, punch out eyes, smash legs and arms

the moving van record at 75 cents an hour has yet to be lowered.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Wheel Thief Arrested.

Ralph Woolley, aged 21, was arrested yesterday by detectives for having stolen a wheel belonging to K. Corrier from the basement of the Copp building Sunday afternoon. Woolley was employed as a painter in a Broadway restaurant.

Rails Broke Leg.

Max Wendt, a laborer employed by the Pacific Electric Company, was caught under a pile of rails yesterday afternoon while working with a construction gang on West Washington street. His right leg was fractured above the knee in two places. He was taken to the Sisters' Hospital.

Still Drawing.

Taliesin, the number of 105 have been used in the United States Court to get a jury for the postoffice site condemnation suit, and the lawyers will be drawing. Ten jurors have been selected, but some of these will be challenged. It is expected that the jury will be called on Monday.

Car Injured Aged Man.

Charles Bailey, an insurance man 70 years of age, was struck by a car on Main and Fifth streets yesterday afternoon and sustained severe injuries, chief of which were a contusion of the right hip and laceration of the left leg. Mr. Bailey was riding a wheel when the car ran him down and knocked him into the street. He resides with his family at No. 151 West Fourth street.

Great Brick Contract.

The greatest brickwork contract in the history of Southern California was awarded to C. Leonard. It is for the Huntington building at Sixth and Main streets. Four million common and 800,000 pressed bricks will be required. The same contractor will do the fireproofing and plastering, and has installed complete equipment, including four elevators, in the building.

Nearly Fatal Dose.

Fred Rosner, who was discharged by his brother, George C. Rosner, furniture and commission merchant, at No. 251 South Main street, for whom he had been working, swallowed an ounce of laudanum in the saloon at Fifth and Gladys avenue, yesterday evening, but was saved from the death he courted by vigorous treatment at the Receiving Hospital. The furniture man said that his brother had neglected his work for liquor. The would-be suicide is about 35 and married.

Supper in Grotto.

Exclusiveness and originality of detail characterized a little after-theater supper given last evening in the newly-completed grotto at the Angeles. The party was made up of one and the first table was the only one, and the first to be used in the new resort; the viands were of the German order; the waiters served in Swiss costume; the plates, each one of a separate design, were imported for the occasion, and at the conclusion of the repast were taken home by the guests as a souvenir of the occasion. The corner of the grotto occupied was beautifully decorated with evergreens and plants, the idea of a garden scene being carried out almost to perfection. The Monn superintended details, and the Angeles orchestra discoursed harmoniously the air of the Reichardt.

Death of J. P. Traflet.

A telegram was received here yesterday afternoon from San Francisco, announcing the death of J. P. Traflet, the wholesale jeweler of this city. Mr. Traflet was 49 years of age and was born in Massachusetts. He came to Los Angeles about twenty years ago and from a small beginning had built up a very large business. His long and close application to work caused his health to break down, and several months ago he was persuaded to take a trip to Japan for rest and recreation. He found no relief, however, and upon his return to San Francisco he was too ill to continue his journey to Los Angeles and entered a hospital. Several of the best physicians of the State were called in but were unable to check the ravages of the acute nervous prostration from which he suffered. He leaves a widow and two children. The remains will arrive here Sunday and the funeral will be held at the family residence, No. 176 South Bonnie Brae street, at a time to be announced later.

BREVITIES.

Rev. Dr. George Thomas Dowling's topic at Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, Simpson Auditorium, Hope street, between Seventh and Eighth, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, will be, "Great Chapters of the Bible," No. 2, "Daniel V: The Story of Belshazzar." "Weighed in to Balance and Found Wanting." The congregation will please read the chapter carefully before coming to church. The service will be printed in full. Vested choir. Seats will be reserved for seat holders only until the clergy and choir have entered the chancel. At the close of the service, copies will be distributed of the sermon delivered two weeks ago, on "The Ethics of Property and the Rights of Man."

The Rubber Club—The idea of a rubber club which has been formed by Frederick E. Scott, is certainly a substantial way of proving the claims of the Conservative Rubber Production Co. This club will send a delegate to the company's rubber plantation in Mexico about the 15th inst., to make a thorough and complete inspection of the property before there is any investment is made. Those desiring to take advantage of this opportunity should see or telephone Mr. Scott today at 529 Laughlin Bldg. Phone Home 2021.

Real estate advertisers and others: Hereafter all real estate and classified "want" advertisements for Sunday insertion must be in The Times office not later than 11 o'clock Saturday night in order to be properly classified. Small advertisements received after this hour will be printed under a special heading of "Too late to classify." Special request is made of those telephoning "Lines" to do so before 10 p. m. each night.

of Amos. Subject, "The Reality of Our Religion." Notice—Mrs. Youba, formerly at El Parnaso, 349 South Main street, will serve Spanish dinners hereafter at 219 South Hill street.

Furn. remodeled, D. Bonoff, 212 S. Bway.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Postal Telegraph Cable Company, 232 South Spring street, for Mr. Vincent Neal.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union office for Mrs. F. J. Evans, John M. Lucas, Mrs. M. J. Leonard, Lincoln G. Backus, A. Nicholson, R. C. Erwin, F. C. Drake, Frank Walker, Mrs. S. E. Watson, J. Crandall, Oscar Henderson and George Ambrose.

HEARST'S NEW PAPER.

His Lieutenant, Dent H. Robert, Here to Establish Morning Sheet in Los Angeles.

The rumors to the effect that William U. Hearst will start a daily paper in Los Angeles, of the style of the Examiner, are now verified. Dent H. Robert, managing editor of the Examiner, is in the city and says he is commissioned to establish a morning daily here for Mr. Hearst. He says the Herald will not be bought, but an entirely new plant will be purchased; but it is thought Hearst will come to Hearst's terms and sell him the Herald.

Changed His Mind.

Notably: I thought you were never going to look for people again.

Wagsby: I did say so. But since that time they have decided that I might come back—Baltimore American.

Not Complaining of That.

"Some people say that you have money than brains," said the blunt person.

"I hope so," answered Senator Sargnum. "Most everybody I run across is trying to trade off brains for money."

"INJUN" HOUSE FIERCE JOKE.

"Full of Coughs" Say the Red People of Pala.

Indians go on Strike and Call in Attorney John Brown.

Tribe Evicted from Warner's Ranch Still Having Many Troubles.

One of the fiercest unintentional jokes ever perpetrated upon a people was sprung Tuesday on the former Warner's Ranch Indians, now enmeshed against their will at Pala. Their new houses arrived—the houses promised them by the government in place of the roofs of their fathers, left behind at Agua Caliente.

Ever since their removal to Pala in May last these unhappy Indians have been looking forward for some move on the part of "Washington" to house them, as they greatly dread the approach of the damp, chilly months while they are under canvas and brush shelter, as is now the case. So when it was rumored that the first load of material for the new houses had started over the mountains from Temecula, expectant eyes were fixed on the pass between the old olive grove of the Pala mission.

The future Indian settlement at Pala will consist of thirty thin pine pole houses, 22 feet 8 inches long, 11 feet 8 inches wide, and 7 feet 10 inches high. They are shipped in the "knocked-down" shape from New York, piled on the ground, the sections look together without a nail, and if the puzzle is properly worked out, according to the voluminous blue-print diagrams furnished the United States government by the owners of the patent on the thing, three rooms will be developed per house. The houses cost $90 apiece in New York. By the time they are set up on the reservation they will cost not far from $300 apiece.

Pala will be the most incongruous Indian settlement that ever came to the imagination. It will be far more than the long-haired blanket Indian in the high-top pipe hat. The wall little peaked box houses, their sharp spindles columns bristling with a line of gingerbread scroll work, will stand in an unsteady row and stare the mission and its famous campanile in the face. Indians will erect brush shelters in front of such of these New York presents, wherein to sit, away from the sun, and ponder, and weave, and complain; and each house will look as if it had grown a great, tangled beard, longer than itself.

Of course, this is just the look of the thing, which some people will tell you has nothing to do with the case. Sometimes a fellow can't help being influenced by his funny bump, though, and besides, it never is necessary absolutely to defy the fitness of things, even in housing an Indian. But the point upon which potent discussion may be maintained in this case is a thin-clad Indian, used to adobe walls every winter of his life, as has been the case with the Warner's Ranch Indians, live healthfully in a collapsible, "Lincoln"-pooped shell?

Evidently the Indian Department has decided that they can't live so healthfully, but the Indians have decided that they can't. A Times representative at Pala when the first load of house sections arrived, and this was the first complaint that the natives made. They didn't complain that the houses were unpicturesque, though they laughed at them for this fact—but they said, "They are full of coughs."

But it is decreed that the New York style shall prevail in the architecture of the new Pala, and the authorities on the field—who are in no wise responsible for the ridiculous houses—will begin to get the village into shape next week.

the San Bernardino attorney whom the Indians have been led to consider the only true oracle in existence, arrived in camp again. He had been called in post-haste by them to give advice on a matter wherein they had refused to comply with the request of the agent in charge of them. Just over the reservation line to the southeast lives a Mexican family named Moreno. The Moreno ranch derives its water supply from a ditch that passes through the reservation. The Moreno claim that their water had been cut off by the tramping-in of the Indians. The reservation authorities decided that the Indians should build a fence along the ditch in question, to protect their water from the Indians. The Moreno refused to have anything to do with it. They say they won't do work for their neighbors. So off went a messenger for John Brown, whom they consider more potent than the United States government. The messenger, figuratively, to defray his expenses, and a conveyance was sent to hear him over from Temecula.

SQUAWMAN LAWSON.
Squawman Lawson, formerly Indian war correspondent of the Los Angeles Express, also was sent for, to pass his valuable opinion upon the matter of the water right. And after the befuddled Indians have been advised to their own contentment by these two,

CAPT. ORTEGA INSPECTING NEW HOUSE.

the fence will be built, or not built, just as the department decides. This is a hint of the chaotic condition of affairs current in the Indian camp. An unexpected political event occurred in the Indian camp this week which relieved the authorities' belief in the strained condition. Cimicuat, who was elected captain of the Agua Caliente prior to the removal from Warner's ranch, who has been the moving spirit among the violently contented, was put out of office through the influence of the party composed of the younger element. A large Jesus Ortega, elected to the head of the people in his stead. The younger element is said to be tired of the constant friction, and the new captain is considered a conservative spirit.

SORRY SWAP OF SNIDER.

Thrown Off Train Because He Changed Coats.

Unequal Attack and Woe for Passenger.

Credentials Didn't Count With Brilliant Railroad Sleuth.

If the heat of the railroad's warfare on the scoundrels keeps up, the general public will have to be very careful about getting a shaye or changing socks while out on an excursion ticket. Yesterday a passenger was pounced upon by trainmen, jerked off his coat, and thrown off a train, just because he changed his coat and hat.

The victim was Charles E. Snider, and he is going to sue the Southern Pacific for terrific damages. Snider is a mining promoter, in charge of the New York offices of an Arizona company. He has been touring the Southwest on a G.A.R. encampment ticket. Snider decided to start East on the 12:15 p.m. train yesterday, intending to spend the one day his ticket gave him looking over some mining property at Mojave. In the morning he went to the agency on Second street, maintained jointly by the transcontinental roads to "validate" excursion tickets. Here for a fee of 50 cents the agents put holders of excursion tickets to the usual course of sprouts. He showed his letters, his teeth, tongue, etc., and told the story of his past life. The chief snickered, sweat him long enough for another glimpse to his lodgings, No. 436 South Hill street, where, strangely enough, his baggage and description were found to tally with his statements. Sadly, his ticket was O.K'd.

Then Snider went home to pack up. For convenience he folded the Panama hat he had worn in the awtoab in his trunk, and donned a black derby. Also he changed the dress-up black coat worn for the inspection for a cream-colored one that would shake the dust of travel. In this disguise he boarded the noon north-bound train.

At Burbank the traveling detective who always precedes the conductor and scrutinizes through tickets, reached him. This was a talented Hawaiian. He had sat in the agency and seen Snider go through the long examination. His trained eye quickly perceived that there was something wrong. He told Snider that he was not the same man who validated the ticket. Snider pleaded that he merely had changed part of his clothes, and was the same Snider underneath. Snider had a row of front gold teeth, which he could be seen a block away in the night. The sleuth said that he had seen him clear away. Snider protested that he had not changed his teeth, just his coat and hat. Snider showed his front teeth, and the detective, who had been told of the gold teeth, said that he had seen him clear away. Snider protested that he had not changed his teeth, just his coat and hat. Snider showed his front teeth, and the detective, who had been told of the gold teeth, said that he had seen him clear away.

There was some excitement when the train reached the Fernando. Snider refused to budge, and the conductor called two brakemen to help him put him off the train. Snider, with a couple of orkamen to hold him to the platform, the train finally got away without Snider.

With his clothes tattered and his sides sore he then came back into Los Angeles on an evening train.

UNKNOWN TACKLES AN OSTRICH FOR MISS RUTH PEEBLES.

"Prince of Pilsen," Girl Goes to South Pasadena Farm, Has Puss Gobbled by Big Bird, and Sees a New St. George Dash to Her Rescue.
Miss Ruth Peebles, the "Nellie" of "The Prince of Pilsen" company at present in the city, passed through an experience yesterday the like of which she never had before.
It was a bird-foe it all happened at the South Pasadena Ostrich Farm. As a result of the happenings, Miss Peebles now carries a silver purse bitten and dented and all but swallowed by a wicked and voracious bird domiciled there. The bird, a handsome, black and beautiful feathers. That a piece of little Miss Peebles herself was not taken in to favor the morsel is due to her quickness.

VICTORY FOR VENTURANS.

Coast Line Limited Will do Their Pleasure.

After Long Tussle Espre Comes Around to Their Terms.

Now the City By the Sea Will Demand Better Place on the Map.

An order was received here yesterday by Southern Pacific Train Dispatcher Sweetser from headquarters in San Francisco to the effect that, beginning today, the Coast Line Limited, both north and southbound, will stop at Ventura. A victory has been won by the merchants of Ventura.

For the past two months the prominent citizens of that city and the Southern Pacific have been at loggerheads over this proposition. When the Limited first failed to stop there the merchants held a meeting and decided to ship all their goods to San Francisco by water and placed an order with San Francisco jobbers that merchandise be sent down only by water. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce took a hand and helped Ventura's cause along.

The Southern Pacific endeavored to remedy the trouble by sending the local train out of Los Angeles ahead of the Limited and changing the time of departure 7:10 a.m. to 7:00 a.m. from Ventura bound for San Francisco via the Limited were expected to go to Santa Barbara on the local and change there to the Limited which arrived a half hour later. This hardly proved satisfactory. Objections continued to come in from Ventura citizens and a committee was appointed to take action on the matter if necessary to go to San Francisco and assert their rights in person to the big men of the "Espre."

For a few days last week the Limited stopped at Ventura and then the order was cancelled again and the flyer flew past as of old. Now, as the Ventura committee is about to leave for headquarters in righteous indignation, the order comes that the Limited will stop. But the trouble is not yet at an end, for this committee is going to push the case of Ventura via the Southern Pacific still further. The leading citizens assert that they are not treated right by the railroad and will ask that the name of the city on the Southern Pacific maps be changed from "San Buenaventura" to just plain Ventura, by which name it is best known. They further take exception to the fact that Santa Barbara is printed in heavy type on the ocean where it is most conspicuous while San Buenaventura is stuck inside in a jumble of little towns where one needs a magnifying glass to find it. This committee is to ask that some of these things be rectified and that the city be given its share of advertising in railroad pamphlets, etc.

The stopping of the Limited at Ventura will not alter its running time to San Francisco and it will not change the time of departure of the Limited on local trains from Los Angeles. Ventura is to be the only point between this city and Santa Barbara at which the Limited will stop and Dispatcher Sweetser states that in all probability the engine will take water at Ventura instead of Santa Paula where it has been stopping for many months.

UNIONISTS ON STRIKE IN SANTA BARBARA.

CONTRACTOR SAYS OTHER MEN WILL FILL PLACES.

Walkout on Potter Hotel Addition Because "Unfair" Company's Plan to Rattle Town of Union Bosses.
SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 9.—This morning the carpenters, joiners and plasterers engaged on the Potter Hotel addition struck in a body, refusing to work with the tinslers of the "unfair" Ott Hardware Company. This is the first move the unions have dared to make to back up their boycott of the company, for although they have been given many opportunities they have got no farther than threats.
Thursday evening the Ott company's tinslers were on the tinning corner, and the Potter and Ott workers, for a short time, returned to the shop to do preliminary fitting. They appeared at the job this morning, and the union mechanics laid down their tools and walked out. Foreman Johnson called up Contractor Engstrom of Los Angeles by telephone and explained the situation to him, asking for instructions. From his answer Mr. Engstrom seems determined to make no concessions to the striking men.
Foreman Johnson stated this afternoon that the plasterers and lathers will come back to the job tomorrow morning, and that a force of carpenters will arrive on the morning of the 11th to take the places of the striking men. Whether the carpenters will be union or non-union, he was unable to say, said Johnson, "but one thing is sure, and that is that they will work along with the union men." The striking carpenters are all Santa Barbara men, and this time they have gone a bit too far.

FACTS AS TO DONNATTI.

A Denial that Didn't Deny—What High Official of Huntington Lines Says—Forced Out.

"I have read the general denial of C. E. Donnatti in this morning's Times," said a high official of the Huntington lines yesterday, "and all I have to say is that he has told the truth. He was forced to resign his position because he was found by the management to be truckling to the worst element and to sneakingly hunting at a time when the fight against Huntington was hottest, and a desperate effort was being made to win the case."

As to the Donnat's candidacy for Chief of Police it is notorious that he was pushed for the place by "the gang." His name appeared in the public prints as that of a candidate, and he did not see fit to deny it until after the anti-Eiton crusade collapsed.

AT THE CITY HALL

DISLIKE TO SEE NEIGHBORS' REAR YARDS.

PROTEST AGAINST ACCEPTANCE OF "RUTLEDGE PLACE."

Property Owners Object to Plan of Banning Bros. to Lay Out an Exclusive Tract—Probably that Owners Will Carry Out Their Plans Without Council's Approval.

An emphatic protest was voiced at the session of the Board of Public Works yesterday afternoon against the approval of a map of "Rutledge Place," as asked by William Banning through his attorney, Samuel Haskins Esq. The protesters were present in person with their lawyer, John H. Foley.

The tract to which objection is made runs through from Pico to Sixteenth street and consists of two rows of lots 100x150 feet in size, one on each side of a street called "Rutledge Place." The lots on the west side of this street run through to Arlington street and the persons owning property facing east on this street object bitterly to the approval of the map because of the place names and sheds just across the street. The street as proposed does not connect at either end with any of the established streets of the city. As in the case of Clark & Bryan in the Westmoreland tract, the owners have arranged for an exclusive place regardless of the established thoroughfares. It is apparent that the Bannings to model their tract after Chester Place.

In defense of the plan for platting the tract, Attorney Haskins urged that the adjoining property would be benefited rather than injured because of the nature of the improvements contemplated. He said that Hancock Banning would erect a residence to cost $25,000 on a lot 150x240 at the corner of Arlington and Pico streets and that some building restrictions would be placed on the other lots. He said that Capt. Banning had endeavored to find some way of utilizing the property for a long time, and had even tried to buy more land in order to lay out the tract in a different manner. Failing in this, he had done the best possible with the property he had. This argument did not appear to the protesters and one woman indignantly protested that she would never live in a house that fronted on a bare lot no matter how much the owner's house cost.

The board vainly tried to adjust the matter and in the end postponed action indefinitely in the hope that some agreement could be reached. It is probable, however, that Capt. Banning will go ahead with his plans, regardless of the Council and issue deeds to his lots by notes and bonds. The purchasers will be compelled to care for the street themselves unless the Council changes front and approves the map.

STREET RAILWAY.

Consideration of the application of the Los Angeles and Glendale Electric Railway Company for a franchise on Los Angeles street from Pico to Ninth street was postponed again yesterday. Chairman Nofziger stated that a suit to wind up the company was pending from Fifth to Seventh street was pending in court and that the Council should await the outcome of the trial. Several protesters were present, but the petitioners had evidently been notified that the hearing would be postponed, as they did not appear.

COW LIMITS.

Two petitions to change the cow limits were granted by the Committee on Legislation yesterday morning. It was shown to the satisfaction of the committee that a dairy in the district bounded by Sixth and Seventh streets, Eleventh street and Western avenue would not be objected to by the residents of that part of the city and an ordinance eliminating that territory from the district will be recommended. A similar petition covering the sixth ward was granted.

STREET OPENING.

Now that the plans for the new four-story bridge have been completed, the bonds sold and the money in the treasury, the agitation for the opening of Short street through from the west end of the Traction Company's viaduct to Third and Alameda streets has been renewed. It is estimated that it will cost about $25,000 to acquire the property necessary for the construction of an eighty-foot street and it is proposed to distribute the cost of the improvement over a very large assessment district.

LITTLE CULPRITS.

Judge Wilbur looked down with a frown upon a little ducky yesterday. He had been brought before the court. "Have you ever been in jail before?" "Yes," said Anthony Jenkins. "What for?" "Namin' mean—just fighting."

RAILWAY COMPANY, AS VERY SHARP CURVES ARE NOW USED TO GET FROM THIRD STREET TO THE FOURTH STREET VIADUCT.

PETITIONS FILED.

A petition was filed yesterday by the owners of block 53, of the Huber tract for the opening of a street thirty feet in width from Eighth to Ninth street between Hill and Olive streets.

INTEREST ON THE WATER BONDS.

Interest on the water bonds was paid by the City Treasurer yesterday amounting to $24,504.34. Coupons amounting to $11,454.25 have not yet been received. The annual payment due on the principal of the $2,000,000, 4% water bonds, or $80,000, was also made yesterday through the National Bank, which acted in the transaction for the Wells-Fargo Company of New York.

AT THE COURT HOUSE

THOUGHT GARLAND WOULD BEAR WATCHING.

DEFENDANT'S LAWYERS CLAIM TO HAVE WON A POINT.

One of the Crocker heirs came to Los Angeles with instructions to investigate the pending Crocker sale. Buckbee on the Gridiron.

Garland's lawyers knocked a two-bagger yesterday.

Mr. Garland, who it was feared would never smile again, has—smiled again.

Further cross-examination of S. C. Buckbee showed that the Crocker heirs had come to the Crocker heirs' estate in a big way, but that beautiful trust in him which alone enabled him to buy the property through a dummy for about half what it was worth.

It was brought out that one of the Crocker heirs came to the Crocker heirs' estate in a big way, but that beautiful trust in him which alone enabled him to buy the property through a dummy for about half what it was worth.

Mr. Buckbee admitted that he had been told by H. Green, the husband of one of the Crocker heirs, to look up the deal.

Mr. Denis looked at him sharply. "What did you want Mr. Green to do?" He said he wanted him to satisfy the Crocker heirs' estate in a big way, but that beautiful trust in him which alone enabled him to buy the property through a dummy for about half what it was worth.

"Then why did you give Mr. Green the names of these agents?" "He said he wanted me to satisfy the Crocker heirs' estate in a big way, but that beautiful trust in him which alone enabled him to buy the property through a dummy for about half what it was worth."

They gave Judge Wilbur the names of Vernon Turner and Ray Beer. Judge Wilbur sent them each to jail for a week. Home will be found for them if possible.

QUEER PROMISE.

J. J. Jackson's first wife has set out to punish him for not fulfilling a promise to get a rich one for his second. That is the queer situation developed in an old divorce suit reviewed in Judge Garney's court yesterday.

Jackson came into court with motion asking the court to set aside the order requiring him to pay $10 per month. He said that he was a poor man and that he was not able to pay the money.

One of the affidavits in the case was that the woman who said that after the divorce, Jackson got behind with her money and that he was not able to pay the money.

State and county taxes become due and payable next Monday. To those people who are persistent in putting off the payment of their taxes, the Tax Collector Welch issues a note of warning.

The great congestion in the office of the assessor of November 1st, each year, imposes much weariness waiting on the part of the procrastinating taxpayers. The assessor's office would have been a much more pleasant place if the taxpayers would have come earlier and avoided the rush.

Residents and others who depend upon the mails, Mr. Welch desires to impress with the importance of sending their mail in the morning, being specific in giving the description of the property, and making their names and addresses legible.

It is especially important, by reason of the change in the mode of assessing property, that the assessor's office be given proper descriptions.

EARLY RAIN DAMAGED BEANS LITTLE IF A.Y.

BEST CROP REPORTED NOT UP TO EARLY ESTIMATES.

Dun's Monthly Review of Trade Conditions in Southern California Proclaims this a Good Year for the Grower of Crops—Canned Goods Scarce.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of trade conditions in this part of the State for September, states that Southern California is still busy handling the fruit crop. There is little ground for complaint this year from growers in this section. Almost every crop has yielded average quantity and fair prices have ruled. Resultant damage from early rain was slight. The injury to hay, grain and beans was not materially affected. Output of raisins on trays in a few instances dropped a grade in quality. The bean harvest is progressing rapidly. Fruit drying continues, and grape crushing at wineries is in full swing. Prices paid by wine men, $10 and $12 a ton amounting in some varieties to 50 per cent. of that paid last year, is causing much complaint from vineyardists. The sugar campaign will probably continue a month or six weeks longer. The best crop is not up to early estimates, but is in excess of last year. Sugar content is high, averaging about 17 per cent. From Oxnard, sugar is now going forward at the rate of eight carloads a day. Output for season at Los Alamitos is estimated at 100,000 tons.

Beans prices advanced during the month. The size of the Ventura crop seems to be subject for much difference of opinion, and it seems now to be up to a counting of the sacks after thrashing to determine whether it is 60,000 or 80,000.

The market for dried fruit is steady, prices firm but movement is not active. The pack for State is small, that for export is larger. The market for unusual Eastern demand for fresh fruit and heavy purchases by the canneries. Apricot stocks will reach less than two-thirds of last season's output.

Walnut picking has commenced. More than half crop has been booked subject to prices named by the Association. As buyers are offering independent growers 18 cents in carload lots, it is not probable that the Association sales will be so confirmed.

The canned goods market is most active in years. Shipping is heavy. Brokers report sale for everything available. The pack for State is 500,000 cases less than in 1929. Canners are accepting all orders subject to broken lines.

About all the citrus crop has now been shipped, only about 100 boxes estimated to remain in the State. Slightly higher prices have been obtained during the month. Lemon market has been decidedly stronger. Field for year totals about 22,000 carloads. All conditions are favorable for new crop.

Olives crop will be abundant this season exceeding yield of two years ago and should bring better returns, as growers are better prepared than they were for handling the crop.

Locally, volume of business is very satisfactory. The annual report of the State Board of Agriculture for 1930, shows large gain, 27.71 per cent. over business of 1929. Prospects were never better for large fall and winter trade in all lines. No let-up in building operations is apparent. The September permits being in excess of one million dollars. Failures for month of September, 1930, were 12. The total for the year was 12. The total for the year was 12.

EARLY RAIN DAMAGED BEANS LITTLE IF A.Y.

BEST CROP REPORTED NOT UP TO EARLY ESTIMATES.

Dun's Monthly Review of Trade Conditions in Southern California Proclaims this a Good Year for the Grower of Crops—Canned Goods Scarce.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of trade conditions in this part of the State for September, states that Southern California is still busy handling the fruit crop. There is little ground for complaint this year from growers in this section. Almost every crop has yielded average quantity and fair prices have ruled. Resultant damage from early rain was slight. The injury to hay, grain and beans was not materially affected. Output of raisins on trays in a few instances dropped a grade in quality. The bean harvest is progressing rapidly. Fruit drying continues, and grape crushing at wineries is in full swing. Prices paid by wine men, $10 and $12 a ton amounting in some varieties to 50 per cent. of that paid last year, is causing much complaint from vineyardists. The sugar campaign will probably continue a month or six weeks longer. The best crop is not up to early estimates, but is in excess of last year. Sugar content is high, averaging about 17 per cent. From Oxnard, sugar is now going forward at the rate of eight carloads a day. Output for season at Los Alamitos is estimated at 100,000 tons.

Beans prices advanced during the month. The size of the Ventura crop seems to be subject for much difference of opinion, and it seems now to be up to a counting of the sacks after thrashing to determine whether it is 60,000 or 80,000.

The market for dried fruit is steady, prices firm but movement is not active. The pack for State is small, that for export is larger. The market for unusual Eastern demand for fresh fruit and heavy purchases by the canneries. Apricot stocks will reach less than two-thirds of last season's output.

BIOGRAPHY.

MY OWN STORY. By John Townsend Trowbridge. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

A DELIGHTFUL book by a charming man in "My Own Story," which Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin & Co. have just issued in book form. The papers that make up the volume appeared originally in the Atlantic Monthly, and there attracted wide attention, not only from the general public, but from the critical and literary publications. Even to those who had the opportunity of reading the autobiography on its first appearance, it will come as a welcome guest in its new form, for while it is a study of a man's life, it is also a study of a man's mind, and will bear re-reading many times, the present publication has an additional interest in the many illustrations with which the text is accompanied.

John Townsend Trowbridge has lived a useful life, and has perhaps written for the largest public gained by any living American writer. His life is a study of a man's mind, and will bear re-reading many times, the present publication has an additional interest in the many illustrations with which the text is accompanied.

The present work is not more of those delightful stories that we have read of in the past, but it is a study of a man's mind, and will bear re-reading many times, the present publication has an additional interest in the many illustrations with which the text is accompanied.

Trowbridge is a keen observer, and is an entertaining raconteur. His work is a study of a man's mind, and will bear re-reading many times, the present publication has an additional interest in the many illustrations with which the text is accompanied.

"M.L.S."

THE FAITH OF ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON.

By John G. Bennett. New York: The Century Company.

Robert Louis Stevenson is a poet in his own right. Some read him as a story teller, and some as a poet. He was a man of many parts, and his work is a study of a man's mind, and will bear re-reading many times, the present publication has an additional interest in the many illustrations with which the text is accompanied.

tomed to this we will see less flippant jests at a work such as that before us. The author has done his work well. He has made an exhaustive and sympathetic study of Stevenson's whole religious life as expressed in his writings and in his biography. There is no claim made to any personal knowledge of Stevenson, in fact, we are informed that the author saw him but never spoke with him. But this does not detract from the value of the work, for the theme has been selected, but on the contrary enables him to treat his subject with a greater freedom from personal bias. We regard the book as a valuable contribution to the increasing knowledge of Stevenson.

POETRY.

SHAKESPEARE. THE SONNETS. BY ARTHUR JACOBSON. John Land, New York.

The Sonnets of Shakespeare are among the most beautiful of literature. They have presented more problems than almost any other modern production. The nature of these little poems is such that they are admirably fitted for the exercise of ingenuity in interpretation. The interest in them is not caused by the fact that they are little poems, but by the fact that they are a study of a man's mind, and will bear re-reading many times, the present publication has an additional interest in the many illustrations with which the text is accompanied.

of the present day, but certainly not of an author is as well known. It is true "The Room With the Little Door" won more than a little favor, but "The Room With the Little Door" was the principal in two of the most notorious criminal trials through which modern literature has passed. For three years the name of Molineux was known to the public, and for these years his devoted patients had struggled to save the life of the son of a nobleman. The story was public property; indeed, the last month of the trial, men, women and young people from Maine to California watched the daily papers for news of the Molineux trial. It was no wonder, then, that a book purporting to tell the impressions of Molineux as he faced the death that the electric chair held for his occupants was eagerly read. Despite the conventional advice to its circulation the book won its way because of its own merits. It was a book of great worth, and the majority of the public never expected to see the name of its author on the title page of a book of such value. But now comes "The Vice-Admiral of the Blue." It is a historical novel, and it is a study of a man's mind, and will bear re-reading many times, the present publication has an additional interest in the many illustrations with which the text is accompanied.

THE FAITH OF ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON.

By John G. Bennett. New York: The Century Company.

Robert Louis Stevenson is a poet in his own right. Some read him as a story teller, and some as a poet. He was a man of many parts, and his work is a study of a man's mind, and will bear re-reading many times, the present publication has an additional interest in the many illustrations with which the text is accompanied.

Short Southern Tales. By Anne Hobson. New York: The Century Company.

POETRY. THE SONNETS. BY ARTHUR JACOBSON. John Land, New York.

The Sonnets of Shakespeare are among the most beautiful of literature. They have presented more problems than almost any other modern production. The nature of these little poems is such that they are admirably fitted for the exercise of ingenuity in interpretation. The interest in them is not caused by the fact that they are little poems, but by the fact that they are a study of a man's mind, and will bear re-reading many times, the present publication has an additional interest in the many illustrations with which the text is accompanied.

John Townsend Trowbridge has lived a useful life, and has perhaps written for the largest public gained by any living American writer. His life is a study of a man's mind, and will bear re-reading many times, the present publication has an additional interest in the many illustrations with which the text is accompanied.

The present work is not more of those delightful stories that we have read of in the past, but it is a study of a man's mind, and will bear re-reading many times, the present publication has an additional interest in the many illustrations with which the text is accompanied.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

CITRUS FRUIT SHIPMENTS. Carload shipments of citrus fruits from Southern California to eastern points as reported daily for the preceding day are as follows, the season beginning November 1, 1902:

Saturday and Sunday	Oranges	Lemons	Season's
Monday	1,200	1,200	1,200
Tuesday	1,200	1,200	1,200
Wednesday	1,200	1,200	1,200
Thursday	1,200	1,200	1,200
Friday	1,200	1,200	1,200
Saturday	1,200	1,200	1,200

Of the season's total 2675 carloads were lemons.

LABEL LAW.

We are asked if the law regarding branding or labeling fruit packages, designating the county and immediate locality where the fruit is grown is operative. This act was passed at the last session of the Legislature at Sacramento and is now a law of this state. Inspectors, we understand, have been appointed by the Governor, and packers of prunes and other fruit should take due notice and obey the law accordingly.—California Fruit Grower.

IRRIGATING ARID LANDS.

Out of the 600,000 arid acres of the Western States and Territories there are probably not more than 100,000 acres that can be brought under irrigation. Some of the arid lands are rocky and it is irretrievably bad; some of it lies too high and is too rough or only useful for grazing. Making a deduction, however, there is enough irrigable land to attract a vast speculation and to feature heavily in the schemes of Federal expenditure. When the National Irrigation act was passed the act of the statesmen who voted for it had any accurate understanding of the possibilities involved. No other scheme of interior improvement, by which the government has committed itself can compare with this corrective effort to make the desert fertile and productive desert wastes of the continent.—(Philadelphia Record.)

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS.

Little of live interest was to be noted about the local produce markets today (Friday) except that butter continues to show a tendency to weakness that interferes with the rapid movement of the heavy bodies. It is believed that 70 cents for local creamery is too high, and for much cutting in prices is reported.
Other grades did not seem to be affected. Butter of Trade will decline last Monday, and the prediction is freely made on the "street" that the Butter Board of Trade will decline to 65 cents at tomorrow's meeting.
San Francisco is quoted down to 85 cents.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The stock market
this morning continued to show depression and gloom. The professional traders ought to take advantage of the moment for liquidation by offering prices down on the leading stocks. The market was extended as to result in a rather abrupt reversing demand for stock. Taking warning from the fact that the market was extended, causing the late recovery in the market. The market was quiet, comprehensive and the level of prices well above last week's level. The market was near the top. The predominant influence of the market was the fact that the

MASTER BUILDERS FIX WAGE RATE.

NEW ORDER TO BE IN EFFECT NEXT MONTH.

Union Plasterers Will be Forced to Recede from Their Recent "Hold-up" Position or Seek Other Fields—Many Skilled Workmen Coming.

After November 1 plasterers and bricklayers, both union and non-union, in this vicinity, will be obliged to work for a maximum wage of $5 a day or remain idle. That is the ultimatum of the Master Builders' Association, formulated yesterday. It will be remembered that a few weeks since the union plasterers, secure in the belief that they had the contractors cinched, demanded a minimum rate of $6. Employers were given but an hour's notice, and the only alternative was to submit to the hold-up. General contractors were limited in time for the completion of buildings, and had the sub-contractors stood out against the extortionate demands of the union men, the general contractor would have been forced to complete the undertaking of the sub-contractors at the latter's expense. By the action of the Master Builders' Association a harmony of interest will be secured, contracts will be let and sub-let on the basis of the maximum rate established, and if a union laborer doesn't want to work at that wage he can let it alone.

The experience with union plasterers the past few weeks has made this action of the master builders imperative and, as skilled mechanics have been flocking to this building center, employers are content of being able to secure all the men they want. When the demand of the union plasterers for a minimum rate of $6 was granted, the impression prevailed among the men that they had gained a permanent victory, and that contractors were helpless. Their conduct became intolerable, work was performed most unsatisfactorily, and half-time for full pay was the general result. To add to the stress of the situation, little fellows, who are apprentices to-day and contractors tomorrow, dominated by the walking delegate, made no end of trouble. These tools of the union, having a day's work or less to offer, would canvass the labor field, tendering plasterers $7 and $7.50 per day. In order to keep their men, contractors having large jobs were obliged to meet the raise.

Another favorite method of holding up employers was for a dissatisfied man to approach a builder with the statement that others had offered him a dollar, would canvass the labor field, tendering plasterers $7 and $7.50 per day. In order to keep their men, contractors having large jobs were obliged to meet the raise.

Where the Negro Fares Well. The investigation into the affairs of the Indian Territory has served to call attention to the fact that there are some 20,000 negroes in that Territory who have fared pretty well under the fostering care of the government, which has exercised a guardianship over them, on account of their affiliation with the Indian. Prior to the Civil War some of the Indian tribes were slave owners, and with the emancipation the freedmen were adopted as members of the tribes. As a result of this action, 20,000 negroes and persons of mixed negro and Indian blood are today sharing in the allotment of the five civilized tribes. This is by virtue of a treaty entered into between the United States and the Indians in 1866. By provisions of this treaty and the allotment acts these Indians and mixed bloods now receive a homestead of from 40 to 120 acres each.

Reports from the officials of the Territory show that these negroes are among the most thrifty and industrious citizens. They have been kept, under the operation of the Federal law, from the use of liquor, the sale of which is prohibited in the Territory, and have accumulated a very liberal share of the wealth of the Territory. With the final division of the lands, the negro members of the tribe will be well established and equipped for making an independent living. Those who have been advocating the colonization of the negroes have been disappointed, and the members of the tribe who have been located on farms and compelled to remain there (Washington Post).
